THE INSURRECTION ACT

We have heard a lot about the Insurrection Act. Politicians and journalists have talked a lot about it. President Trump has not said he will use the Act during the mid-term elections, but he has said he is thinking about it. Members of his administration have said it might be needed because of claims of widescale election fraud. Let's take a closer look at this law.

The Insurrection Act was put into law during Thomas Jefferson's presidency. It has been changed over the years by Congress and through court decisions. Basically, the Act allows the federal government to use the military inside the United States during serious emergencies. It can also allow the federal government to take control of state National Guard units. This can happen during moments of major civil disorder, rebellion or insurrection.

The Act can be used under certain conditions:
- A state government asks for federal help for a problem too large for the state to handle
- Normal law enforcement cannot act quickly enough to deal with the problem
- A state is not following Federal orders and is denying citizens their legal rights, such as civil rights.

This Act is an exception to the Posse Comitatus Act of 1878. This law prevents federal troops from being used for normal law enforcement. Other federal laws also limit how the Insurrection Act can be used. The Act also does not clearly define words like "insurrection", "rebellion" or "domestic violence." This can give the President more freedom to decide when to use it.

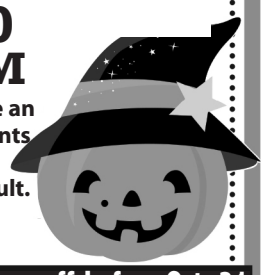

The Insurrection Act has been used about 30 times in our history. It has been used during the Civil War, against the Ku Klux Klan in the 1870s and in fights between workers and businesses. Presidents Eisenhower, Kennedy and Johnson used it to enforce federal orders to end segregation in schools and other places in the South. It was last used in 1992 by President George HW Bush during the riots in Los Angeles.

Can the Insurrection Act be used to stop or control an election?
No. The U.S. code 592 says military or civilian leaders cannot use troops or armed men at any place where there is an election except to "repel armed enemies of the United States." Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Gen. Dan Caine said there is no plan to send the military to polling places, or to take ballots, voting machines or other election materials.

Of course, this Administration has often chosen to act first and let the lawyers and judges sort out the legal questions later. That is a big concern.

ATTENTION VOTERS:

Flock cameras and metal detectors, body searches in courthouse.

Jackson county Republican party bought a full page ad in the Oct.19 Shopper and never came out against flock cameras spying on everyone in Jackson county or even body searches in the courthouse. Why did they not State their positions on these 2 issues in their ad. I thought the chairman was against both.

The citizens will be subjected to body searches just to conduct business in the courthouse. We have Republican candidates running for countywide office. Why haven't they stated their positions on Flock cameras and body searches of private citizens entering the courthouse?

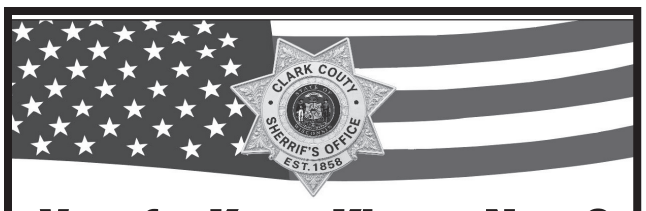

All employees and elected officials in the courthouse are behind bulletproof glass. I think Republican voters want to know if the Republican candidates for countywide office support our constitutional rights against unreasonable searches in the courthouse and flock cameras.

AND GOD SAYS...

Woe to those who call evil good and good evil ... Woe to those who are wise in their own eyes (Isaiah 5:20a-21a)

It seems that history repeated itself in Isaiah's time from the days of the Judges. In those days, people also did that which was " wise in their own eyes" Judges 17:6, 21:25). Both resulted from a lack of godly leadership. There was no one who was authoratively declaring God's values. The result was devastating. Law and order failed. Lawlessness prevailed. Violence rapidly increased. The economy failed.

As I write this, it seems to me that it is very descriptive of today. I wonder, are we repeating history once again.

Let's see. A woman confessed that she killed her three children but 11 jurors decided she was a good person and shouldn't be judged for her crime. Evil was determined to be good.

A criminal is finally to be executed for his crimes, and protests abound crying "cruel punishment' while a baby is killed and the murder is approved, sometimes even celebrated. But abortion is not merely an evil that is called good, it is defended, promoted and celebrated. In fact, according to the American Center for Law and Justice (ACLJ) "California passed a law stripping accountability for babies' deaths up to 28 DAYS AFTER BIRTH. Minnesota Governor Tim Walz signed a law gutting born-alive protections for babies who survive abortions. Washington state now blocks investigations of infant deaths .... "We have promoted evil and call it good on a epidemic level. According to the Guttmacher Institute, 1.1+ million abortions occurred in the U.S. in 2025," not including "self-managed abortions, such as those using medications mailed from pharmacies."

We deny science and claim our feelings as our authority. We say we have many genders based solely on our feelings. God says he "created mankind in his own image" (Genesis 1:27). But then he emphasized the fact that he created only two genders by specifically declaring "male and female he created them."

We could go on. Police are bad, criminals are good. Rich are bad, poor are good. Sexual purity is bad, promiscuity is good. Woe to us, as we allow these travesties to continue.

There are three questions on the November 3 ballot

Vote X "NO" on all three questions.

Question #1 pertains to Wisconsin's Line Item Veto law. No Governor has ever created a new tax with the line-item veto. Written in confusing language to prevent something that has never happened. It should be defeated. Vote "NO" on Question #1

Question #2 would prevent the state government from temporarily banning large gatherings of people during a pandemic to prevent spreading a disease similar to Covid. A yes vote could put everyone's health at risk during a pandemic. Vote "NO" on Question #2

Question #3 would prevent schools and other government entities from giving preferences to members of a minority group when they have equal or better qualifications. A yes vote prevents developing programs to assist historically disadvantaged groups. Vote "NO" on Question #3

SCHOOL CHOICE VOUCHER PROGRAM

The School Choice voucher program helps eligible low-income families attend private schools. Families may choose an education they believe best supports their student. Voucher aid is $5,000 per student less than average public-school revenue; 17 students receive vouchers, representing approximately $192,185. Public schools in Wisconsin can still collect state general aid and property taxes for students who use parental choice program vouchers. This means that even though the students have transferred to private schools, districts can retain some funding based on those students' previous enrollment. BRFSD still receives $122,706 from state aid for these 17 students that seek education elsewhere.

FAMILIES & COMMUNITY

•Our current student population is comprised of 56% of families that qualify for free/reduced priced meals. Additionally, 21% of our students are students with disabilities.
•Dr. Severson, Spotlight on Schools, October 2025

BRFSD has many aging seniors who rely on Social Security and have expressed concerns about additional taxes. Private-sector wages have not kept pace with inflation, and families have adjusted their budgets to live within their means, maybe the district should.

Do you think these families and seniors can afford to pay more taxes?

BRF School Board has not gone over the budget in-depth to identify possible savings. Maybe they should do this before asking more from us.

Buses are less than half full. Why new 72-passenger buses instead of smaller buses? Have we considered leasing buses to help with maintenance and lower costs?

Student/Teacher ratio is below the state•s average. Has the board looked into this?

Small class sizes have NOT led to better results.

Clark County Humane Society's Pet of the Week

"BOWIE"

Bowie is the CCHS Pet of the Week!

SAVE A SHELTER PET!

Bowie is one seriously entertaining puppy! This adorable Terrier mix is energetic, playful, curious, and just a little bit crazy—in the absolute best puppy way. Bowie is almost 5 months old and weighs 18#. He is very cute with his short-haired tricolor coat of white, black and tan. Bowie loves being part of the action and has never met a game he didn't want to join. He's got plenty of puppy zoomies, plenty of goofy antics, and plenty of opinions to share. His Terrier personality shines through in his confidence, enthusiasm, and determination to investigate everything around him. Bowie is looking for a family ready to embrace puppyhood in all its chaotic glory and help him grow into the wonderful dog he's meant to be. With training, exercise, and lots of love, this goofy guy is going to make someone a fantastic companion! You can submit your adoption application for Bowie on our website: www.cchs-petshelter.org/applying-to-adopt.

Have you heard about The Great CCHS Duck Hunt? Throughout the entire month of October, keep your eyes peeled while visiting participating local businesses. We've hidden numbered, themed ducks all throughout Neillsville just waiting to be discovered! All you have to do is find a hidden CCHS duck, take your new little friend with you, bring it to the Clark County Humane Society, officially "adopt" your duck and receive a special Duck Adoption Certificate and a prize! A HUGE thank you to all of the businesses and organizations helping hide our little ducky fugitives!

The Republican Platform

Preamble—A Platform for a Time Such as This: The Republican Party of Wisconsin stands with a firm allegiance with the principles that make America exceptional. The Republican Party must reaffirm the timeless truths that have made this country exceptional in the past and will do so in the future. We expect our elected officials to uphold these truths through acknowledgment and action.

We are One Nation: We are one family. We care for one another, are loyal to one another, and defend one another. Those who join our family become a part of our family history, sharing our rights, privileges; and shouldering our responsibilities. We are a geographically, ethnically, and culturally diverse family, yet we are unified by a common commitment to the principles for which we stand—a nation of, by, and for the people. We welcome free speech and encourage diverse opinions, but we reject identity politics that divides us against each other. We speak many languages, but we advocate for a single, unifying common language. We welcome those who share our love of freedom and respect our laws and our borders which are our first line of defense against lawlessness from within and without. We stand for a strong national defense. We are one nation.

Under God: We believe that God endows every person with the right to life, to liberty, and to the pursuit of happiness and that He requires us all to respect the rights of all of our fellow citizens, from the moment that they are conceived to their deaths. We are under God who has instituted the family as the basic building block of society and establishes universal laws of justice. We establish no church or religion but recognize the sanctity of every person's conscience and defend the free exercise of all religions. We are one nation but recognize that we are under God who cares for other people and nations as well as our own. The love for our family does not mean hatred for neighboring families.

Indivisible: Generations of Americans of all races have sacrificed their lives to defend our nation. Valley Forge, Gettysburg, Midway, Iwo Jima, Normandy, the Chosin Reservoir, Ia Drang, Fallujah, and many more places that are burned into our memories, testify to our endurance as a nation. We hold this nation in trust. We honor this trust by keeping liberty alive in the face of those who tempt us to trade our freedom for the worn-out promise of a global, collectivist utopia. We honor the sanctity of the individual, not the state. Despite attacks from without and within, we remain indivisible, bound, not by narrow promises of government handouts, but by a broad belief in freedom, in principles that bring liberty and stability through law clearly defined by our federal and state constitutions– foundational laws that mediate between the individual and group and small states and large states. We support the Electoral College that balances the rights of densely populated regions with those less populated.

With Liberty: We stand for liberty, not the tyranny of the mob or the orders of the administrative state. We promise less central planning and less centralized control—more freedom, not less. We believe that it is not too late to return to a republic where the law is written by Congress which itself is limited by Constitutional law, where judges are limited by the written language of the law, where the president is limited to enforcing the law as written, and where the power of our federal government is limited to areas clearly defined by the Constitution. We dedicate ourselves to the defense of all God-given rights that are clearly articulated in the Bill of Rights—to free speech, to a free press, to the free exercise of religion, to bear arms, to private property— rights that are under constant attack by those from within who neither understand nor share our vision of freedom through the law. We stand for property rights and economic freedom. We envision an economy vitalized by clear, consistent rules, one where citizens can live and can start businesses free from excessive bureaucracy and can operate them without fear of private or public extortion, without frivolous lawsuits or pay-to-play bribes, fees, fines, and excessive taxes. We stand for a level playing field, free from the cronyism of subsidies, mandates, and monopolies. We stand for medical freedom and defend an individual's right to make their decisions without coercion. We stand for decentralization and free-market solutions to the serious problems in areas such as health care and education that have become so distorted by political manipulation.

And Justice for All: We seek justice that is found in the intersection between liberty and law. We strongly advocate for limited government, federalism, and the decentralization of authority to the state and local community. We also strongly support the strict and equal enforcement of law within each jurisdiction. Neither liberty nor justice is possible without public order. We believe that justice must be blind to race, gender, status, political affiliation, and sexual orientation, and that law enforcement must treat everyone equally. We stand for the same due process and the same presumption of innocence for all. We also oppose the injustice of federal borrowing that irresponsibly transfers one generation's debts to generations not yet born. We call for the federal government to balance its budget and insist that each state continues to do likewise. We oppose "bailouts" that enable State irresponsibility. We stand for equal treatment through the law and for equal opportunity that equal treatment brings. Outcomes will vary, but one law in defense of life, liberty, and property protects us all. Our mission, both simple and profound, really can be summarized by three words, "liberty through law."

For 2026, delegates to the Republican Party of Wisconsin convention reaffirm the principles stated above and set the following priorities to guide our party.

- Border security and enforcement of the law: We support lawful immigration, oppose sanctuary policies, and call for state cooperation with federal authorities to deter illegal entry, trafficking, and cartel activity that threatens Wisconsin communities.

- Free speech and open civic debate: We oppose viewpoint-based censorship and political retaliation by government or publicly funded institutions, and we defend the right of Wisconsinites to speak, worship, assemble, and participate in public life without intimidation.

- Cost of living and affordability: We call for pro-growth tax and regulatory policy that lowers costs for families and small businesses, expands workforce participation, and supports affordable, reliable energy without government favoritism.

- Fiscal restraint, fraud prevention, and accountable budgeting: We oppose deficit spending and bailout politics, and we call for reforms that restrain the growth of government, protect taxpayers from unfunded liabilities, and prioritize core functions before expanding programs. We also support the prevention of fraud and holding bad actors accountable.

- Public safety and equal justice under law: We support victims' rights, due process, and consistent enforcement of the law, and we call for prosecutors and judges who apply statutes and constitutions as written rather than pursuing political outcomes.

- Education freedom, transparency, and excellence: We support parental choice and transparency in curricula and spending, and we call for high standards that prioritize core academics, civic literacy, and respect for parents' primary role in their children's education.

- Truth in biology and women's and girls' protections: We affirm that there are two sexes—male and female—and we call for laws and policies that preserve sex-based protections in sports, privacy, and institutions, while treating every person with dignity and equal protection under the law.

- Health care affordability and medical autonomy: We support competition, price transparency, and improved access—especially in rural Wisconsin—and we oppose coercive mandates that override informed consent and the doctor-patient relationship.

- Election integrity and voter confidence: We call for accurate voter rolls, strong chain-of-custody and verification practices, transparent observation, and elections that are secure, auditable, and administered consistently across Wisconsin.

- Strong families and resilient communities: We support policies that protect children, strengthen families, and empower faith-based and community organizations to solve problems locally rather than expanding bureaucracy.

- Reining in the administrative state: We call for clear statutory authority for rulemaking, robust legislative oversight of major regulations, and enforcement of separation of powers so that unelected agencies cannot govern by decree.
