BARN OWL

FIRST THEY CAME...

Pastor Martin Niemöller was a Lutheran Pastor in Germany in the 1930s. At first, he supported Hitler's Nazi Party. When he later opposed Nazi control of churches, he was imprisoned in the Dachau Concentration Camp and just avoided execution. After the war, he became an anti-war activist and deeply regretted not doing enough to help the victims of the Nazis.

From that experience he wrote this:

First, they came for the socialists, and I did not speak out—because I was not a socialist.

Then they came for the trade unionists, and I did not speak out—because I was not a trade unionist.

Then they came for the Jews, and I did not speak out—because I was not a Jew.

Then they came for me—and there was no one left to speak for me.

The United States is moving towards an authoritarian government. Donald Trump and his team are looking for scape goats to blame for conditions in this country. They are early on in a dangerous process. Perhaps it is time to reconsider that poem and how it may relate to us:

- First, they came for the illegal immigrants, gathering them without legal process and sending them to foreign prisons, and I did not speak out – because I was not an illegal immigrant.
- Then, they came for the legal immigrants, refusing to let them stay, and I did not speak out – because I was a citizen.
- Then, they came for Gays, Lesbians and trans-gender people, who lived in a way I do not understand, and I did not speak out – because I was not a homosexual.
- They came for the Judges but I did not speak out – because I was not a judge.
- They came for the protestors and opponents of their regime, and I did not speak out -- because I was still unsure.
  - Then they came for me—and there was no one left to speak for me.

It begins as an attack on the least of us, but eventually -- it is an attack on all of us. These are the days to act. These are the days to care.
