BARN OWL

Losing Food for Children

The Trump administration stopped funding for two USDA programs: Local Food for Schools (LFS) and the Local Food Purchase Assistance Cooperative Agreement (LFPA).

LFS helped states buy food from farmers and local producers to give to schools and child care centers through the National School Lunch Program, the Child and Adult Care Program and the Summer Food Service Program.

Through the LFPA, fresh food was given to local food banks.

These two programs gave over $1 billion to buy food directly from local farms, ranchers and producers. $600 million went to LFS in 40 states. $420 million went to LFPA.

The programs did three things:

- They gave healthy, locally grown foods to people who didn't have enough to eat.
- They helped small farmers earn a steady income. (There aren't many large produce growers in Wisconsin or in the nation.)
- They made our food system stronger and more diverse.

Wisconsin relied on these services. The state was supposed to get over $11 million for LFS and about $5.5 million for LFPA in 2025. The programs started during the COVID pandemic. That's when we saw how easy it was for our food system to break down. Some foods became scarce and big farms and factories couldn't always get food where it was needed.

We saw that small local farms helped fill the gap. The local economy became stronger. These farmers and their families shopped locally, supporting the local feed, hardware, and equipment stores. Grocery stores and other businesses depended on the people from farms and the income they brought.

Now with the funding gone → More kids in school will be hungry. One in six children in Wisconsin already go hungry. → Farmers will sell less food. → Some small farmers may have to shut down. Large conglomerate farms will grow and buy up more land.

The USDA said it cut the programs to "return to long-term, fiscally responsible initiatives." They said these programs "no longer align with the agency's goals."

Supporting the economy through feeding people seems like a pretty good goal.

Thank you for your attention.

I am so grateful for honest people. Saturday morning I left my wallet at the Shell gas station in BRF and didn't realize it until I got home. "ALFREDO"

Alfredo is the CCHS Pet of the Week!

Alfredo came to CCHS as a stray with his 5 siblings and his Mamma Mia when he was just 1 week old, and went straight into foster care upon arrival. The foster home did a fabulous job, and Alfredo is an awesome kitten. This dashing, buff feline is now 11 weeks old and weighs about 2.5# currently. He is so very handsome with his short-haired coat that is buff and orange in color. Alfredo is a cute little lover boy that is ready to curl up on your lap and lull himself to sleep with his purrs! He is a sweet, sweet goofball with a touch of a playful side! Alfredo is currently residing in our Kitty City with a multitude of other feline friends. Apply for Alfredo today! You can submit your adoption application on our website: www.cchs-petshelter.org/applying-to-adopt. We have lots of wonderful pets available for adoption now, so please check them all out online and then stop in to visit!

Do you have a love for cats and dogs and have been thinking it would be nice to help out at CCHS? Well, now's your chance! Whether it's a few hours a week, one day a month, or something in between, this is your opportunity to try it out. We are very much in need of volunteers! You can learn more and sign up on our website: <https://www.cchs-petshelter.org/volunteer> or email April at cchsoutreach1@gmail.com. Come join our CCHS volunteer family!

AND GOD SAYS . . .

Jesus said, “If you hold to my teaching, you are really my disciples. Then you will know the truth, and the truth will set you free.” John 8:31-32)

In these verses Jesus unquestionably linked our knowledge of the truth and our freedom together. He therefore makes knowing the truth of prime importance. But, if you read Jesus’ statement carefully, you will see that Jesus is not just talking about a head knowledge of the truth, but an experiential knowledge. The inference is that we really don’t know the truth or truly comprehend it until we have put the truth into practice. It is only after we put it into practice that we really begin to fully comprehend it or experience it’s implications in our lives. It seems, that it is not until we have obeyed God’s word by faith, that we really begin to understand that it really sets us free. For example, we do not experience the peace of God or the freedom that comes from a cleansed conscience until we actually respond to Christ by confessing with our mouth our need of Jesus to forgive us (Romans 10:9-10). Only than can we actually experience the truth and begin to fully comprehend it.

In fact Peter, under the inspiration of the Holy Spirit, said it this way, “giving all diligence, add to your faith virtue; and to virtue knowledge . . .” (2 Peter 1:5 KJV). In other words, by faith take God at His word and put in into practice just because he said so, and once you do, you will begin to understand more deeply why God has said what He did. This is called a life of faith.

It is like working in a large company, and as its employee, you are asked to modify some part that you have no idea how it will work or make the product better. Furthermore, your employer really does not owe you an explanation. As a faithful employee, you just need to do the job asked of you and trust your employer to know what he is doing. It is only after you see the part installed that you begin to understand and it all makes sense.

Likewise, as laborers in the Kingdom of God, we must trust our King to know what He is doing whether we understand His plan or not. We will never begin to understand God’s deeper, more personal will for our lives until we prove our trust in Him. We do this by obedience to His already expressed will revealed through His written Word. Then we will experience the true freedom He promised.
